

napers who sought in this way to divert suspicion from the real cause of the child's disappearance.

"I am forced, in spite of my former conviction, to the belief in the possibility that my boy had wandered out there and died," said Dr. Marvin today.

The physician was sitting in the dining room of his home, looking from a window toward the spot under a tree in the yard where the child's body was buried with simple ceremonies yesterday. His eyes were red with weeping, and his whole bearing told of the terrible weight of sorrow which seems to have settled permanently upon his bowed figure.

"Until the doctors examined Horace's body," continued the father, "I did not think it looked as though life had been extinct more than a few days. But Dr. Wilson's statement that death must have occurred at least four or five weeks ago, puts a different aspect upon it. His discovery also that there was no food in the poor little fellow's stomach, showing that he died more than a day after he had last eaten, tends to show that he may have lain out there benumbed by the cold while we were hunting all around him."

Bearce Probably Missed Him.

"I still cannot see how he walked all that distance in the short time before we began to search for him, and how his body escaped our observation in the many times we searched the marsh, but such things, they say, have happened before. I remember, distinctly, that Mr. Bearce, of the Pinkerton detective force, and I were at the very spot where the body was found several weeks ago. There was only a little water there then, and while I sat on a log near by Mr. Bearce walked through the marsh, looking for it. We thought he searched it thoroughly, but we may have been mistaken."

"My interest in my boy is now, and I am not what the authorities may say. If in the future they find evidence that Horace was murdered, I shall do my best to help them punish the guilty persons, but if the coroner's jury finds that the boy's death was an accident I shall accept their verdict."

To Take Lad's Body West.

Dr. Marvin said that he had decided not to remain in Delaware to live. He will return to his former home in Sioux City, Iowa, where he left early in March to look for his missing son. Early this afternoon he came to Dover and sent a telegram to a friend in Sioux City, the contents of which indicate that he will not stay much longer at the head of the great est tragedy of his life.

The telegram read as follows: "I shall bring Horace's body back to the fall."

The library of more than 5,000 volumes which Dr. Marvin brought here to the store in the barn on the farm, the books not having been unpacked from their cases. Articles of furniture are also there and will probably be sent back with the books. The physician has announced that he has abandoned entirely his intention to build another house on the farm and will turn the whole property over to his oldest son, Dr. Harvey Marvin, who is coming here in a few months.

Robin to Complete Autopsy.

The stomach of the dead boy is now in the possession of Dr. A. Robin, of Wilmington, bacteriologist with the War Department. Dr. Robin was at the home of Dr. Marvin yesterday, and when he returned to his home last evening he brought the boy's stomach with him. He was engaged by State Attorney Richards to act in an advisory position to the physicians who performed the autopsy and as an expert analyst.

"My examination of the boy's stomach," said Dr. Robin today, "is for the purpose of completing the autopsy and not for the purpose of working on any definite theory. Of course, if I find anything that will bear further investigation as to poisoning, I will continue with the search. My main object was to learn if there was any food in the boy's stomach at the time of his death. There are several little points which must be settled and my examination will do this and complete the autopsy."

Dr. Robin was asked if the boy, in his opinion, could have been dead two months. He replied that from the appearance of the body this was possible.

GRAND JURY INDICTED

The case against Governor Crawford of South Dakota, who is charged with illegally selling land patents, has been referred to the Department of Justice. Commissioner Ballinger, of the General Land Office, said today that after considerable correspondence, and after cancelling all patents issued by Crawford, the work of the bureau on the case has been finished.

The Department of Justice will now take up the investigation.

OPENING GUN FIRED IN DEFENSE OF MINERS

Stone, of Caldwell, and O. M. Duell were fighting it out for the State.

The weather is sultry hot in Boise and the populace surprisingly apathetic, so the audience that heard the trial, the legal skirmish, was composed principally of attorneys and newspaper men.

District Judge Fremont Wood listened closely to the argument, but his judicial demeanor was a mask which effectively prevented any conjecture as to how he might vote.

"I maintain, your honor," continued Mr. Richardson, "that my clients are entitled to have their rights safeguarded. We want the prosecution to indicate the charges against these men; a crime must be proven, before a punishment can be inflicted."

Argument Strong and Logical

His argument was strong and logical. The motion was opposed by Messrs. Hawley and Borah.

There was no precedent in Idaho law for such action, it was argued, and Senator Borah, thereupon, said he had no objection that the present was not a civil action.

"We cannot be bound by a bill of particulars," he argued.

"Criminal proceedings demand the widest of latitude and to the side of the defense, it might be impossible for us to meet some of their moves."

"This case must and will be tried on its merits. We do not desire to deny the accused any advantage due, but we will insist on the rights of the people being properly safeguarded."

Judge Wood took the matter under advisement.

No Sign of Trouble.

If Sheriff "Shad" Hodgkin is to be believed, the report that the Orchard or any other witness may be shot in the witness chair in the court room is ridiculous. Hodgkin declared "there will be no shooting here, and this trial will proceed in an absolutely orderly manner. My arrangements are complete, and only such persons as can be comfortably seated will get into the trial inclosure."

The sheriff's attitude is that of every citizen of Idaho, of course, but the vast majority of the residents of the county take only a cursory interest in the trial, and there will probably be no disturbance that the local authorities can not quickly quiet. The selecting of a jury will begin at 10 o'clock Thursday morning next.

War on Tuberculosis Subject of Papers Before Convention

Third Annual Meeting of National Association Opened by President Biggs—Reception at White House.

With an address by the president, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, of New York, consisting of a review of the work in the past and an outline of the results to be accomplished at this session, the third annual meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis was formally opened today at the noon at the New Willard Hotel.

The preliminary routine business of the association was immediately gone into, one of the reports submitted being that of the committee on the International Congress on Tuberculosis, to be held in 1938, Dr. Lawrence F. Flick of Philadelphia, being chairman of the committee.

The discussions as to the methods to be employed in fighting the white plague began in its rubber boots. The following papers were read, this particular phase of the disease having been assigned to some of the most noted physicians in the country:

Discussion of Methods.

Address of the chairman, "The Living Pathology of Tuberculosis of the Bones in Early Life," Dr. Thomas Morgan Rotch, Boston; "Recent Advances in the Knowledge of Tuberculosis in Children," Dr. Charles Hunter Dunn, Boston; "The Present Status of the Transmissibility of Bovine Tuberculosis, as Illustrated by Infants and Young Children," Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw, Albany; "Are Tuberculous Infants and Children in the First Five Years of Life Liable to Sources of Infection?" Dr. Samuel S. Adams, Washington.

The sociological section meets at 1 o'clock, the program arranged being as follows:

"Tuberculosis Classes and Day Camps," Dr. Joseph Pratt, Boston. Discussion opened by Alexander M. Wilson, Boston; Dr. Walter L. Niles, New York; Dr. Arthur K. Stone, New York; "Country Treatment of City Cases," Dr. B. H. Waters, New York. Discussion opened by G. A. Fisher, New York; Dr. Oscar H. Rogers, Yonkers, N. Y. Discussion opened by Dr. C. R. Clark, Youngstown, Ohio.

Reception at White House.

At 8 o'clock tonight a meeting of the advisory council will be held with an address will be delivered by President Biggs on "Compulsory Notification and Registration of Tuberculosis."

In addition to the business of the association tomorrow, a reception has been arranged for the delegates.

RATES REDUCED BY COMMISSION ON CUT FLOWERS

Express Companies' Doubled Charge Ordered Cut 40 Per Cent.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has decided the first case involving express rates and the railroad between express and railroad companies, under the new rate law. The decision is a broad holding against both the railroad and the express companies, and in favor of the public right to fair rates.

The case involved rates on cut flowers from New Jersey points to New York. Recently the rate was doubled, and the florists complained. The express companies replied that they were bound by their contracts with the railroads to pay the latter 45 per cent of their gross receipts, and on the flower business the railroad was not enough to make the traffic profitable; so the rate had to be doubled, which involved doubling the rate on the express companies.

The commission holds that the public must not be treated in this fashion. The operation of the express company is a concern of both the express company and the railroad company, and it is impossible to permit excessive charges to be made under cover of such contracts. Therefore the rates are ordered reduced to 40 per cent per 100 pounds. They were formerly 50 cents, and the recent increase made them $1.

BOYS AND GIRLS REPORT AT JUVENILE COURT

Judge De Lacy of the Juvenile Court and the officers of that tribunal were hosts yesterday at the regular monthly personal appearance and consultation of the boys and girls on probation. The party numbered 257 boys and girls dressed in their best. Judge De Lacy, chief probation officer Zed H. Copp, and assistant probation officer Miss Gertrude B. Darwin addressed the children.

It was announced that a new playground in the rear of the court building, 1315 F street, will be opened soon for the children of the court on probation. The work of the Juvenile Court has grown so fast that Judge De Lacy finds it almost impossible to care for the work with his five officers.

RIFLE IS FIRED BY PRESIDENT, 515 MILES AWAY

Report Heard at White House From Charleston Schuetzenfest.

With one eye squinted, and his ear to the receiver of a long distance telephone, President Roosevelt this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock took three shots at a bull's-eye down at Charleston, S. C., 515 miles away. He heard the crack of the gun, but did not see the smoke.

"This was the way he formally opened the National Schuetzenfest. The managers of the festival hit upon the plan of having the President shoot from a distance. So Lieut. W. M. Farrow left for Charleston Saturday to arrange the gun. He pointed it today when the President pulled the trigger. The gun was placed on a rest and the trigger connected with the White House. By the side of the gun was a telephone so arranged that the report of the gun was taken up by the instrument, and after the President pressed the button he heard the report of the discharge come to his ear. This was repeated twice."

Doctors Blamed For the Spread Of Tuberculosis

"We must not blame the city for the awful mortality from tuberculosis. We must blame the medical profession." This sweeping rebuke to physicians in this country was made today before the American Therapeutic Society, now in its eighth annual meeting at the Raleigh Hotel, by Dr. Francis M. Pettenger, of Los Angeles, Cal.

"I know that we cannot blame the city for taking steps on their own account to find out whether they have tuberculosis," continued the speaker, "for the simple reason that physicians do not recognize it in its earliest stages. Furthermore, I have again and again told members of the society into my office and tell me more about the true source and progress of tuberculosis than physicians know."

"Physicians Not Interested."

"Why is this? It is because the laity has tuberculosis, and physicians are not interested in it unless it appears in their own families. The physicians of this country do not know enough about tuberculosis. They know it is curable, if taken early enough, but of what avail is this knowledge if they do not recognize the disease in its first stages?"

There were many speeches and discussions of technical subjects, including "Fluorine as Medication in Hemiplegia," William Porter, St. Louis, and papers by Louis Kolipinski, of Washington; John E. White, of New York; C. H. Huhka, of St. Louis; Alexander McPhedran, of Toronto, Canada; Dr. Olin Leach, of Washington; Spencer L. Davies, and Holmes C. Jackson, of Albany, N. Y.

Dinner at Raleigh.

The technical discussion will be resumed this afternoon. This evening the society will be tendered a reception by its president, Dr. Robert Reburn, at his home, 212 F street northwest. Tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the election of officers will be held. Tomorrow evening a complimentary dinner will be given to the society by the Washington members of the society at the Raleigh Hotel.

Died.

BURNS.—On Sunday, May 5, 1937, at his residence 5 S street northwest, J. D. BURNS. He was forty-six years old and had been a resident of this city for seventeen years.

CLEARY.—On Sunday, May 5, 1937, after a long illness, JOSEPHINE M. CLEARY in her home, 242 I street northwest.

VERKE'S POSITION NOT YET FILLED

Pearl Wight, of Louisiana, owing to his interest in a firm which holds big contracts with the United States Government, may not accept the appointment of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Yerkes.

Mr. Wight, as soon as he was officially informed of his appointment, notified the President that he thought it improper for him to accept the commission as long as he was interested in the firm whose contracts with the Government amount to $800,000.

The matter is now unsettled, as Mr. Wight has indicated that he may step out of the firm and thus pave the way to his accepting the Government position.

LAND OFFICE CLERKS DOCKED TO PAY EXTRAS

each informed that it would be necessary for them to leave away from the office a half day and lose $1 each as a tribute to the new recruit.

Protest Against "Docking."

Consequently the payrolls went to the Secretary at the end of the month showing that every per diem employee had carelessly lost a half day. The tax was not levied without protest, however, and it is stated that not one of the thirty employees relinquished cheerfully the $1 which they contend should have belonged to them. It is also emphasized that nearly all of these employees are women, some widows with families to support, who can ill afford to lose even this amount from the pitance they receive, and they tearfully presented this new practice of "borrowing from Peter to pay Paul." The additional clerk is still at work, however, and a similar reduction is expected by the per diem clerks at the end of May.

"It does seem," one of them remarked today, "that our little mite should remain unmolested. We receive only $2 with no furlough or sick leave allowance, and now this is to be curtailed to provide a berth on the per diem rolls for a cousin of theirs." It is the first time such a thing has occurred since the appropriation has been made possible. Many of us have made efforts to get on the classified list, but for some reason we have been kept back. Per diem workers are working side by side with civil service entries, the former getting $2 per day, the latter $1.20 to $1.80 per annum, for the same class of work."

Explanation of Officials.

The department officials when asked for explanation of the complaints made, said that the appropriation as made is too much for thirty and not enough for thirty-one clerks. Rather than turn any money back into the Treasury the department officials stated it was deemed as more advantageous to employ thirty-one clerks and make up for any deficit by the "docking" process.

This reasoning is not sanctioned by the employees themselves, who state that for several years matters have run along smoothly with just thirty per diem employees in the service, and no "docking" had been indulged in until the April rolls were made out and a "tribune" demanded as homage to the mysterious "relative."

NOT BARONESS DE MASSY CLAIM OF ALLEGED COUSINS

WORCESTER, Mass., May 6.—Mrs. Walter H. Maletesta and Mrs. Henry Polay, of this city, declared that they had positively identified the woman just convicted in New York of killing her husband, Gustav Simon, not as Baroness Louisa Anista de Massy, as she calls herself, but as Della Benoit, of Worcester. The women say they are cousins of the convicted woman, and visited her in New York just before her arrest, and also since her arrest. Neither believes her guilty of Simon's murder.
